J2 / JORDAN LATHON

WISCONSIN HERD

EXECUTIVE SCOUTING BRIEF / NOVEMBER 2026

A defense-first rotational guard and secondary playmaker.

00 / TEAM HYPOTHESIS

Jordan Lathon is a 6’5" guard with San Diego Clippers G League experience, seeking his next professional opportunity. His proposed Herd fit is a defense-first rotational guard and secondary playmaker: a point-of-attack competitor who rebounds, makes connective decisions and complements scoring guards.

This public-data brief combines last season’s team context, the November 6 published roster and specific professional examples to support a targeted film review or workout.

01 / PREVIOUS SEASON - 2025-26

10-26	107.1	114.2	-5.4
RECORD	PPG (31/31)	OFF RTG (30/31)	NET RTG (28/31)

These are 2025-26 numbers, not current-season projections. Wisconsin scored 142 against Iowa in its November 6, 2026 opener; this pitch does not depend on claiming a current scoring deficiency.

02 / CURRENT ROSTER - PUBLISHED NOV. 6, 2026

Wisconsin’s 12-player opening-night list included two-way guards Kam Jones and Cormac Ryan, alongside Marcus Garrett, Cameron Parker and Ty Berry. Ryan scored 31 and Jones 23 in the opening win.

The proposal is for a complementary role alongside those guards, not a claim that Wisconsin has an open roster spot.

WISCONSIN HERD

EXECUTIVE SCOUTING BRIEF / NOVEMBER 2026

A defense-first rotational guard and secondary playmaker.

03 / WHERE JORDAN COULD CONTRIBUTE

POINT-OF-ATTACK PRESSURE

Compete for defined guard matchups, communicate through screens and help finish defensive stops.

SECOND-UNIT CONNECTOR

Handle an entry action or second-side pass so scoring guards attack the next advantage.

POSSESSION BATTLE

Rebound from the guard position, pursue loose balls and create extra opportunities.

04 / WHY JORDAN - NOT JUST THE ROLE

On March 22, 2025 against Rip City, Jordan recorded 14 assists, 9 rebounds and 5 steals - an example of facilitating, rebounding and disrupting possessions in one professional game.

His 2.41 assist-to-turnover ratio across the combined 2024-25 G League sample warrants closer evaluation of his decision-making. At 6’5", his size is relevant to guard matchups; individual defensive effectiveness should be assessed on film.

THE PIANO MOVER: Jordan describes his role through energy, communication, physicality and unselfish decisions without needing plays called for him.

THE ASK

Review the representative game and selected defensive possessions.
Then discuss a defined complementary-guard workout or staff evaluation.
