J2 / FRONT OFFICE INTELLIGENCE

LONG ISLAND NETS

JORDAN LATHON - EXECUTIVE SCOUTING BRIEF

6’5" GUARD | POINT-OF-ATTACK DEFENSE | REBOUNDING | CONNECTIVE PLAY

18-18	114.1	93.1	+1.0
2025-26 RECORD	PPG / 20TH	PACE / 28TH	NET RTG / 14TH

01 / TEAM HYPOTHESIS

A defense-first, low-usage connector can complement Long Island’s existing creators.
The 2025-26 team finished 18-18; its first two 2026-27 games were a split vs Greensboro.
Neither the previous pace nor two opening games establishes a current roster deficiency.

02 / CURRENT BACKCOURT

After waiving Dioumassi and Poplar, Long Island still lists Isaiah Wong, Dwight Murray Jr., Jordan Dingle and Dion Brown. NBA assignment guard Ben Saraf had 21 points and 12 assists in the Nov. 7 win. The competition for minutes is real.

03 / JORDAN’S DEFINED CONTRIBUTION

DEFEND - Compete for demanding point-of-attack matchups and navigate screens.
REBOUND - Finish stops and pursue loose balls from a physical guard position.
CONNECT - Make quick second-side decisions without taking over possessions.

04 / WHY JORDAN & HOW TO USE HIM

March 22, 2025 vs Rip City: 14 assists, 9 rebounds, 5 steals.
Combined 2024-25 G League AST/TO: 2.41. Matchup execution needs film review.
Pair him beside Wong or another creator as a defensive-minded rotation option.

05 / REPRESENTATIVE FILM & NEXT CONVERSATION

Watch full possessions for on-ball defense, defensive rebounding and the next pass.
Ask the staff to judge a specialist role, not an invented roster opening.

THE ASK

Would the Nets review three representative possessions and consider a role-specific workout or evaluation?

FILM / youtu.be/4g7R6yFFezo
J2 SITE / irvinthev.github.io/BasketballAgent_J2/opportunity-lab.html

Sources: Long Island Nets (Nov 7 opening roster); Basketball-Reference (2025-26 stats); Greensboro Swarm (Nov 8 recap); G League (Shawn Swords announcement); RealGM game logs.

Target contacts: head coach Shawn Swords; GM Matt MacDonald.

Role-based scouting proposal. No confirmed opening, team interest or endorsement.